

FREE INSIDE: THE SPORTING YEAR WALLPLANNER

THE FIELD[®]

APRIL 2019

Est. 1853

Finding the ideal gundog

How to buy a gun at auction
Picking a beauty
from the beasts

Fishing Russia's salmon rivers
Where to catch the fish of a lifetime

Holkham Estate,
a wildlife paradise
A model for shooting
and conservation

£5.50

Faces

The Field's 2018 Macnab Challenge Dinner at the Savile Club

THE FIELD's annual Macnab Challenge Dinner, this year kindly sponsored by Blaser, brought together sporting sorts from all over the country and farther afield, including Belgium, South Africa and America. Those Macnabbers who had tested their mettle and found success were invited to the celebration dinner at the Savile Club, in company with Field friends and family. The menu was suitably Scottish, with haggis, venison and a whisky cream-laden pudding, all consumed whilst plotting next year's Macnabs. Look out for the MacAfrican... or at least an attempt.

The season's conditions had proved tough but eight successful Macnabbers shot, stalked and fished their way into The Field's Macnab Club, ranging from a brace of young bucks to a second Macnab, a lady Macnabber and a pair inspired by reading about the challenge in the pages of The Field.

Dinner was followed by the presentation of Macnab Club cufflinks by Editor Jonathan Young and Blaser's Robert Sajitz. After a convivial leave taking some of the party repaired to the Cavalry & Guards, to continue the sporting debrief. Each guest took home a generous goody bag, with contents supplied by Blaser, Holland & Holland, Ettinger, Tricker's, Truefitt & Hill, Alan Paine, Prestat and Bramble whisky from Oxton Liqueurs, and game-flavoured crisps from Taste of Game – which fuelled the journey home perfectly.

ROW ONE
Edward King, Luke Bordewich;
Orlando Hill, Gemma Tibbles;
Sarah Dewbury, Robert Sajitz of Blaser;
Emily Coates, Paddy Williams

ROW TWO
Dr Willem Moore;
Christopher Dewbury of Blaser and Andrew Gilruth;
Will Delamore, Lucie Boedts;
Tom Scrope, Field cookery columnist Philippa Davis

ROW THREE
Freddie Adair, Rheta Moore;
Dr Paul Paré, Neil Cross;
Helen Paré delving into The Field's goody bag;
The Field's Macnab cufflinks

